Assistant to Allen W. Dulles,
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear

I am appreciative of your prompt attention to my letter to Allen Dulles. I assume that I am free to communicate the contents of it to While it never is entirely pleasant to be told that you are not wanted for a job even though you are not particularly anxious to have the job, this information will simplify problems as to his future.

Sincerely yours,

William H. Everts
